FANTAGENES

speculative product design

dir /for_space

state=archived

acrylic game board, suitcase with pegs, guide with patterns according to existing human DNA code; original game belongs to the Quercetti toy company FANTAGENES invites you and your child to explore the wonders of genetics through a hands-on, one-of-a-kind microarray model building experience. Can you guess a genetic combination that lives within you? Will you create a brand-new matrix never seen before on Earth or follow the guide to recreate a real fragment of the human genome? The choice is entirely yours!

The playset is suitable for ages 3 and up.
